

ELECTION 2000

This is the presidential election year but we don't have much reason to cheer The people's vote is tied up in the courts everything is in disarray and out of sorts

Regardless of which president we get the matter will not be settled yet This sad situation has forced our hand we must restructure our life for man

These outward things have much to say about the spiritual condition in our day Things that are happening here and now are reflections of whats in heaven somehow

In the spiritual realm where it matters most evil is in battle against heavens host The battle is fierce, we know who wins the earth will be purged from all it's sins

A new day is dawning upon mankind corruption and death will be left behind When the Kingdom of Yah is revealed on earth mankind will understand his spiritual worth
